CONSOLIDATION

Mr. Young Objects for Casa Verdugo Present Status of the Matter

Casa Verdugo, Cal., Oct. 17, 1910.

Editor GLENDALE NEWS.

It occurs to me that those of us who are not in favor of consolidation with Glendale are a trifle too polite and allow some statements made by the opposition to be accepted as facts by those who may hear them.

For instance, we read an article purporting to be a convincing argument for the cause of consolidation. When analyzed, it proves to be a very interesting account of another city, the number of its inhabitants, something about its streets, street car system, etc., passing along to say that anyone having a different opinion to the writer is "selfish or deluded," and concluding with scriptural quotations and allusions, all of which are very nice in the proper place, but contain nothing practical or pertinent to the subject of consolidation.

Let us see what the actual facts are in connection with this subject. We, the lambs to be led to the slaughter, were told in words publicly uttered and glowing with fair-mindedness, that the Glendale Valley Improvement association wished to be fair to every one, and they would not try to force anyone to come in who did not wish to do so. We, like lambs, took these words in good faith, made a house-house canvass of the Casa Verdugo section which it is proposed to annex, and secured signatures of all the people, indicating whether they were for or against consolidation. The result of this definite, fair method was something like 90 per cent against consolidation. To our surprise, we are now informed by the representatives of the consolidation movement that they have a more reliable source of information than a petition, and that they doubt whether the said petition indicates the "true sentiment of the community." With these facts before them, we are willing to leave this phase of the question to the judgment of all fair-minded persons as to whether the property owners of Casa Verdugo should be forced to the expense of an election on a question thus definitely and overwhelmingly turned down.

At first we were told that we would be benefited if we came into the fold; when we insisted upon knowing definitely what these benefits were, the answer was: "Glendale promises nothing." We can believe that this promise would be made good.

Then we were told that we should consolidate on account of the water question, the electric light question, gas, streets, etc.

The water question boiled down to the fact that somebody believed that the source of the water supply of Glendale was contaminated, and when we asked what connection it had with Casa Verdugo, where the water for domestic use is practically all taken from a deep well miles from the source of the Glendale water supply, their cry was: "Come over into Macedonia and help us." The city of Glendale, owning no water, cannot furnish water to outside territory unless they purchase more water, which the property owners of that outside territory would pay for, and this argument does not carry any weight. It is amusing that we should be asked to come in in order that Glendale may furnish us water which is contaminated, and at the same time, don't own and cannot deliver.

It is conceded by the consolidationists that under a law now existing we can obtain all benefits possible under the city government, but they want us to pay the money to the city and let them spend it for us. As a business proposition, when we can secure certain improvements at a less cost, and control the purchase of them, we could not favor coming into the corporate limits and allow the city to handle the matter. We can secure all the benefits without being inside the corporate limits and at a less cost, including street lights.

When we object to paying increased taxes with only a possibility of improvements, we are told that we are narrow-minded, but the same people stated recently that their only objection to the plan of improving roads outside of corporate limits is that "for several years afterwards no work is necessary on such roads and we would still pay road tax." Notice the different viewpoint, but the road would need to be repaired and kept in good shape by the county and the road tax would not be unjustly assessed.

As to gas, the officials of the gas company will explain that the corporate limits do not affect the question, but it is a question of whether it will pay a reasonable profit to furnish gas in a certain district.

The consolidationists carefully avoid the subject when we suggest that we would not wish to be compelled to take out our cement walks and curbing and spend that money over again, to conform to the city grade. You who think it would benefit us to be spliced to Glendale, think what that would mean to you and to all those who have put in those improvements. The city engineer is in duty bound to do that very thing.

The sum of the whole argument is that we are promised nothing. We are asked to let the city spend our money, while we can secure all the improvements outside of the city, and spend our money, and nobody can compel us to let them spend it over again for the same purpose. We of Casa Verdugo have by a large majority expressed ourselves as not wishing to be annexed, and have reached that decision by a careful consideration of all points in connection therewith.

GEO. L. YOUNG.

PROGRESS OF CONSOLIDATION.

The campaign for a Greater Glendale is now being carried on with less noise than characterized it a few weeks ago. The proponents of the idea being in a satisfied frame of mind while they await action by the supervisors in advertising and letting the contracts for that portion of the Good Roads system which touches Glendale and Tropico. As soon as this is done, the petition will be presented to the Glendale board of trustees who will no doubt at once call the election. A protest has been filed with the board against including that territory east of Arden avenue about Casa Verdugo. This protest is signed by over one hundred citizens, not more than one-half of whom appear to be residents of the territory proposed by the petition to be annexed. Among the signers are such names as Albert Dow, Alex Mitchell, James McMillan and other residents of Kenneth road and the territory outside of that embraced in the proposed section outlined in the petition as included in the consolidation plan. In Tropico the Anti-Annexation association has been formed, the officers of the association being: F. H. Davis, president; E. W. Richardson, A. H. Fuller, C. R. Carnack, vice presidents; Peter Gabalg, secretary, and S. R. Street, treasurer. It started with a membership of 96, but it does not seem to include a very large percentage of voters. Inside the city, in the vicinity of Fourth and Glendale avenue, there is strong opposition among a few property owners who seem to be possessed of a real fear that their property interests are endangered, a fear which seems to be played upon by some wily opponents on the outside who aid in the circulation of wild and woolly stories about "moving" the city hall somewhere, locating the new library elsewhere, establishing saloons where they will do the most good and playing the dooce generally. One of these rumors has it that Architect Shattuck is already engaged in drawing plans for the city hall, and as Mr. Shattuck is opposed to consolidation and is something of a joker, we expect to hear any time that he "refuses to deny the allegation." The campaign will be on in earnest just as soon as the trustees call the election, and no doubt the voters will be able to settle the matter satisfactorily, notwithstanding an opinion that seems to be cherished in some quarters that the majority cannot be trusted.

PARENT-TEACHER FEDERATION ENTERTAINMENT.

Music for the informal reception to be held preceding the entertainment on Saturday evening at the high school is to be furnished by the high school orchestra which has delighted Glendale audiences with its unusual ability. The officers of the P. T. A. feel that they are fortunate in having the orchestra to add to the pleasant features of the bi-monthly entertainment. The public is more than cordially invited to attend these entertainments.

Lillian Fiedel Carr, graduate of the Chicago Musical college, will sing Saturday evening at the Federation meeting.

The NEWS hoped to publish this week the principal portions of Mrs. Gridley's excellent address given at the opening of the Tuesday Afternoon Club last week, but owing to the lady's absence from the city the matter is necessarily deferred.

The name of Mrs. Mary H. Gridley, a member of the library board, was presented to the trustees. The chairman stated that understanding it to be the wish of the library board members had put her appointment in the hands of secretary and it was up to the board to confirm it, and after some discussion this was done.

The health officer made a report recommending that he be authorized to send diphtheria-cultures in suspected cases to Los Angeles for analysis in order to get prompt returns in such cases, and the recommendation was approved.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.
The Glendale Investment company reports this week the sale of a lot on Central avenue between Third and Fourth streets from Mrs. Parker to Mr. Porter of Illinois. Mr. Porter has already started a $3500 home on his new acquisition.

Roy B. Kent has just started a home on Sixth street between Pacific and Columbus avenues for Charles Sanders. This home will cost about $1500.

Fifth street east of Glendale avenue, is rapidly building up. There are at present six residences in process of building on that street between Glendale avenue and Adams street and two others in the Edmonds tract between Adams and Verdugo. This week Dr. D. W. Hunt started a residence on the northeast corner of Fifth and Belmont and on the lot next to the southeast corner of Fifth and Cedar streets.

O. W. Odell is laying the foundation for a six-room bungalow for Miss Marian Shaw, to cost about $1700.

CITY TRUSTEES

Mr. Glassell Appears for the Water Company—Mrs. M. H. Gridley Appointed to Library Board

All members present except Mr. Coker. After the reading of the minutes, a hearing was given to Mr. Hugh Glassell, representing the Consolidated Water Company. He explained that the company is supplying water to sections north, east and west of Los Angeles, that it is not practicable to maintain branch offices at all points supplied with water and that the company desired all accounts kept and payable at the central office in Los Angeles. The present management has recently taken hold of the business and as yet it is not running as smoothly as desired and as it will be made to run in short time. The company has some 800 or 900 consumers at present. Mr. Lane replied to Mr. Glassell's statement, saying that he believed the city of Glendale could compel the water company to keep an office here and he believed it should do so. He stated that bills are sometimes delivered as late as the 8th of the month and to have the consumer put off the delinquent list on the 10th, is a great injustice. Mr. Glassell stated that it was the intention of the company to have bills delivered on the 1st of the month as soon as things are put in the condition the company desires. Trustee White expressed the opinion that a notice should be given to the delinquent consumer, between the 10th and the 15th before cutting the water connection and imposing the penalty. Mr. Anderson thought that the consumer should be given more time in which to pay up and that the business in Glendale is of sufficient importance to warrant the company's maintaining an office here. Mr. Glassell stated that it is not the disposition of the company to be arbitrary but that experience has shown that strict rules must be observed or a certain proportion of consumers will not pay their bills when due, and as a matter of fact, but few instances have occurred in which connections have been severed. Mr. Lane insisted that delinquents should be given more latitude as to time. In reply to this Mr. Glassell indicated his willingness to allow payment in Glendale up to the 10th of the month; water to be cut on the 20th. In reply to a question he said that the company possessed a supply that is practically unlimited. At present the water furnished is principally pumped, but he is of the belief that a large quantity of water can be developed in the Verdugo canon where the company has development rights. He furthermore stated that if there was a probability that a controversy arise in Glendale similar to the one now being agitated in Pasadena over the water question, the water company would not be justified in spending much money in improvement of the system. The trustees availed themselves of the opportunity afforded by Mr. Glassell's presence to gather considerable information in regard to the water question, the discussion being very informal and discursive. After Mr. Glassell adjourned, the police and sanitary committee reported that the manager of the Glendale-Eagle Rock railway had promised to have lights provided for cars standing on streets. Committee on library site made a report on price of lots as follows:

Lots 4 and 5, block 59, Fourth street east of Louise, $4000. Corner Fifth and Kenwood, lots 19, 20 and 21, block 59, price $3500, or two lots for $2600.

One lot corner Jackson and Fifth, price $1500. Two lots Howard and Fourth streets, probably could be secured for about $6000. Lots corner Third and Glendale, six lots at $1500 per lot. Two lots corner Fourth and Everett, $2200. Corner Belmont and Fourth, two lots for $1500. Committee made no recommendation and report was received.

A letter was received from Peycke & Co. in regard to complaint made of the noise of the gas engine at the packing house managed by that firm at Lomita and Glendale; the firm promises to endeavor to better the conditions complained of. The city clerk was instructed to write again in reply to this communication. The matter led to a long discussion as to the advisability of establishing an industrial district to which all industrial establishments be confined, apart from its residence sections. Finally on motion of Mr. Lane the matter was referred to a special committee.

The city treasurer reported total collections of taxes to date amounting to $878.56. A petition from the Glendale Advertising Co. for permission to erect a sign board ten feet high at the corner of Third and Brand boulevard, was referred to the police and sanitary committee. An invitation was received inviting the city officials to attend the convention of the League of California Municipalities, to be held at San Diego in November. The city engineer reported an estimate of nine cents per square foot for laying sidewalk on Seventh street between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard, and a resolution was passed declaring intention to order this improvement made.

The name of Mrs. Mary H. Gridley, a member of the library board, was presented to the trustees. The chairman stated that understanding it to be the wish of the library board members had put her appointment in the hands of secretary and it was up to the board to confirm it, and after some discussion this was done.

The health officer made a report recommending that he be authorized to send diphtheria-cultures in suspected cases to Los Angeles for analysis in order to get prompt returns in such cases, and the recommendation was approved.

GLENDALE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION SOCIAL.

Notwithstanding the rain of last Friday evening there was a large turnout at K. of P. hall, the occasion being a social entertainment and reception given by the Improvement association.

On account of the alleged indisposition of the president, Mr. J. W. Uallton, who was present as usual notwithstanding, Vice President Coker presided. Mrs. Hitchcock, accompanied by Miss Mossick, treated the audience to a vocal solo which was encored.

Mr. Hugh Allen Saxon, who was introduced as an old newspaper man and "our vaudeville friend," kept the audience in a laughing mood for fifteen minutes or more, being called back time and time again. Dr. Henry then spoke in his inimitably pleasing manner and as a finale sang "Keep in the Middle of the Road" in genuine and enjoyable camp-meeting style. Mrs. Kinney, accompanied by Mrs. S. G. Bliddle, gave one of her always enjoyable vocal selections and responded to an encore. Mr. W. C. Wattles gave a talk on membership and then came refreshments, generously served, followed by dancing and an hour or two of genial sociability. The regular meeting of the association occurs next Thursday evening, the 27th.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"
There is a merry row on up at Casa Verdugo between the late managers of that popular resort and the Pacific Electric company.

Mrs. Sowl's lease expires Nov. 1 and she was unable to obtain a renewal of it. It now transpires that with singular foresight the lady had made some provision for such a contingency by copyrighting "Casa Verdugo" as the name for the resort, and it is said that Mr. and Mrs. Sowl will continue the "Casa Verdugo" restaurant business on their own grounds close by the historic adobe. Whether the Pacific Electric will continue to give their establishment free advertising remains to be seen.

The name of Mrs. Mary H. Gridley, a member of the library board, was presented to the trustees. The chairman stated that understanding it to be the wish of the library board members had put her appointment in the hands of secretary and it was up to the board to confirm it, and after some discussion this was done.

The center of the table was graced by a large basket of white carnations and fern and the color scheme was furthered by individual bouquets of white carnations and ferns tied with gold ribbon. Places were marked by cards bearing the hostess' family crest and motto.

With each course the honor guest was presented with a handsome hand-painted plate.

The afternoon was completed with the aid of thimble and needle. Each guest fashioned a dainty gold and white sachet bag to be laid away in the bride's trunk.

Plates were laid for Mrs. Irene Hart, the bride's mother; Mrs. Russell Folsom, Mrs. James K. Applebee, Miss Berenice Williams, Miss Martha Hart, Mrs. James Wise, Mrs. John Emory, Miss Katherine Wells, Miss Harriet Hart and Miss Harriet Wells.

Those present were rarely favored by three vocal selections given by Mrs. Harry Girard, which were followed with a song by Miss Viola Yorba, Mrs. Sowl's daughter. The remainder of the afternoon was spent at whist, at the conclusion of the games a handsome Mexican vase was presented to Mrs. V. Price Brown, Jr. first prize, and Mrs. Hildabrand, a guest, received a very beautiful piece of Mexican statuary as second prize. Throughout the games music was furnished on the Italian harp, bass viol and violin. Refreshments completed the afternoon's entertainment.

MILTON NEWTON HONORED.

The old adage about the easy parting of the fool and his money, loses none of its point when applied to the men who backed Wellman.

The attention of our readers is called to the fact that the subscription list for the benefit of the families of the victims of the Times explosion is still open at the NEWS office. A portion of our people have contributed very liberally but we hope to hear from many more.

Samuel J. Walter of Covina will probably be expelled from the Presbyterian church at that place for saying that he would "have been glad to hear that Gen. Otis was blown up." The Covina church will certainly honor itself when it bestows upon Mr. Walter the parting kick.

The Calexico Chronicle has been interviewing settlers to ascertain how they originally became interested in that section and finds that in the majority of cases where they were influenced at all by any manner of advertisement, it was through the columns of the local paper. The conclusion reached is that the best way to advertise a community is to secure a list of eastern people and send them the local paper.

The NEWS acknowledges receipt of the latest output of the advertising department of the Pacific Electric railway, in the shape of an elegant specimen of booklet entitled "Through the Heart of Southern California." We congratulate Mr. D. A. Munger upon having prepared the most attractive and artistic pamphlet descriptive of the attractions of this section of Southern California that we have seen. The illustrations are well selected and beautiful, among them Glendale is represented by pictures of Casa Verdugo, the Glendale Sanitarium and the Eucalyptus trees of Lomita avenue.

Poor Wilmington! Thrilled by promises made by Los Angeles to improve local conditions, build wharves, dredge channels, give her police and fire protection, a municipal ferry, a high school and many more things, within a year, is still waiting for these promises to be fulfilled, and almost two years have passed by since she was benevolently assimilated.

Wilmington saw visions of a great improvement in civic conditions, and a greatly increased population. She is still struggling along, a betrayed village, helpless to work out her own destiny. San Pedro is in the same boat. Los Angeles has failed in every instance to carry out her promises to either, except to pass bonds for the improvement of the harbor. And the harbor improvement has not yet been begun, nor will it, for some weary months. Wilmington has gained less in population and in building since annexation than for any like period in years. Her tax rate has been increased from $1.20 to $2.70 without a showing for the difference.

Wilmington's message to South Pasadena is, "Don't sell your birthright for a mess of pottage! Assume home rule before you go into Los Angeles."

The above is from the South Pasadena Record. We commend it to the small band of our fellow citizens, who are hankering to get into Los Angeles municipality.

Developments continue to be made slowly in the search for the miscreants guilty of the Times building explosion. There seems to be good reasons for believing that the detectives are on their tracks and will in time bring them to justice. No one unless he possesses actual knowledge as to who the culprits are, is capable of saying truly whether the deed was done by a member of any labor union or not, and so there need be no controversy at present over that subject. Certain facts are however well established, one is that the catastrophe was not the result of an "accident," and the other that it was not the work of any one man, "weak-minded or insane." It was, we believe, the result of a conspiracy in which there were several guilty participants, a cold-blooded diabolical plan to destroy property and life, planned by creatures of fully average intelligence with moral characters entirely perverted by false teachings and environment. They were evidently backed by an organization which furnished money, an organization which necessarily worked in secret and did not care what were the means used so that their inhuman object was achieved. That every man and woman in any way responsible for the crime will speedily be brought to justice, must be the sincere wish of every human being worthy of the protection of our laws.

There are but few really famous women in the world, or men either, for that matter, and the passing of Julia Ward Howe leaves a gap that will not soon be filled. She would have made an enviable place for herself even if she had not written the world's greatest battle hymn, but that put her on a pedestal exceedingly high. It is not given to many human beings to be an instrument through which speaks the voice of the spirit of poetry, and Julia Ward Howe was one of the chosen few. The "Battle Hymn of the Republic" is as clearly the result of an inspiration, as any of the prophecies of old, and in itself, for this generation at least, more inspiring. Familiarity with the words makes them to some minds seem hackneyed, but who can yet resist the thrill of them?

"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;
He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He hath loosed the fateful lightning of His terrible swift sword;
His truth is marching on."

The ninety-one years of the life of Julia Ward Howe, were well worth living, had they no other act of high merit to lay claim to, but this was not the only poem that she wrote, nor was writing all that she did in a life far richer than the average in human accomplishment. She was foremost among the advocates of more than one great cause, working with hand and tongue and pen for the betterment of her fellows. Upon her grave stone there could be no better inscription than her own inspired words:

"He hath sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat,
He is sifting out the hearts of men before His judgment seat,
O, be swift, my soul, to answer Him!
be jubilant my feet!
Our God is marching on."

NOT A FIRST MORTGAGE.

The Lankershim Laconic in referring to the development that follows in the wake of the electric railroads, says in illustration of the point, "And there is Glendale. A few years ago that was the raggedest and boomiest looking place to be called a town we have ever seen. It was also stuck off in a corner out of the way of everything and we would not accept acreage there if it had been offered us for nothing." Now all this is changed because the electric railroad has arrived! How fortunate it is that the old residents of Glendale who come here before electric railways were not, and had the good judgment to remain, did not in a moment of despondency offer their title deeds to Brother Wilcox. That they did not is evidenced by the fact that he is not at present among us, but is located over the hills in another of those "best spots that God made." The electric railway has given much value to Glendale property, but after all, the Almighty made Glendale and it is not yet the handiwork of the very potent Mr. Huntington. The latter did not plant it at the foot of the rock ribbed hills that lean back against the mountain wall, facing the world's great ocean and scanning all that lies between, but it is here! It was not he who bent the ever-arching sky over the smiling valley, the rugged hills and the lofty mountain range whose peaks would pierce the clouds if clouds there were. He gave no new ingredient to the alchemist who in his illimitable laboratory brewed the pure air, nor contributed one atom of brightness to the shafts of sunshine that glorify the world and make it fit for those who dwell upon this little old terrestrial ball that whirls about through space regardless of Mr. Huntington's efforts to tie it to his trolley. To come down to earth after this experiment in aviation, we seem to recall the fact that long before the era of the electric car, there were flourishing orchards and productive vineyards in Glendale, and four or five packing houses, and two or more wineries, attesting the fact that orchard and vineyard were planted in a productive soil and were not ungrateful. And there were people here before Mr. Huntington's advent, not in as great numbers as now, but in quality, well they possessed some of the attributes of even that high-class civilization which travels on the trolley car! Oh yes, Mr. Huntington has a mortgage on Glendale undoubtedly, but it is not a first mortgage, oh thou enthusiast of the trolley—there are prior liens!

SOME CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

There are a number of constitutional amendments to be voted on at the coming election, which should receive the careful attention of voters before election day arrives. One of these is Amendment No. 52, the purpose of which is to raise a state fund by a small tax covering a period of four years, in order that California may properly celebrate the opening of the Panama canal by an exposition in San Francisco in 1915. The citizens of San Francisco have raised the sum of six and a half million dollars and it is their wish in addition to this to bond the city for five million more, to levy upon themselves this municipal indebtedness it is requisite that the charter of the city be amended and to do this it requires that another amendment, Number 33, be voted on affirmatively. As this tax will be paid entirely by San Francisco it is not to be supposed that there will be any opposition to the passage of amendment Number 33 in the state at large. The sum to be raised by the issue of bonds as proposed in amendment Number 52 is $5,000,000, and of this amount San Francisco will pay about one-quarter. The value of the exposition to California will doubtless be very great and citizens may well afford to support this amendment.

An amendment of great importance to taxpayers is Amendment No. 1. The object of this amendment is to make it possible to separate state and local taxation and so do away with the necessity for a board of equalization between the counties and make impossible a repetition of the experience of last year whereby the tax of Los Angeles county was arbitrarily raised forty per cent. It is claimed that one of the benefits derived from the adoption of this amendment will be the taking of the burden of taxation to some extent at least from the shoulders of the owners of real estate and putting more of it upon corporations and personal property. The state commissioner on revenue and taxation states that if this plan had been in vogue last year, the revenue of the state would have been increased by $746,110, while the saving to the farmers and small property owners would have been $3,267,238. The amendment is favored by practically every realty board in the state and commercial bodies generally.

There are two other bond issues to be placed before the voters on Nov. 8th, to which attention is also called. One is Senate Bill No. 485, an act to provide for the issuance of $9,000,000 for the improvement of San Francisco's harbor; the other Senate Bill No. 227, calling for $1,000,000 to purchase some swamp land for additional harbor facilities on the San Francisco water front. The former measure seems to have merit in it, as the need of improvements along the water front is generally recognized and is favored by the ship owners' association and other public bodies familiar with the conditions as they exist, while the latter, known as the "India Basin Act" is very generally opposed by similar bodies as being unnecessary.

A FREEHOLDER'S CHARTER.

In the near future it is probable that the people of Glendale will know a great deal more about this subject than they do at present, for it will not be long before it is a live issue, in the community. In no way have greater advances been made in popular government than in the improved laws concerning municipalities. While believing as firmly as ever that as a general thing the fault is not in our laws, but in ourselves, there is such a widespread popular demand for new machinery in government, that it becomes more evident every day that there will have to be a radical change in many of our laws, a change which when put into effect will no doubt in some cases demonstrate the superior wisdom of the old which can only be demonstrated by a trial of the new. There is a demand that the government be put nearer to the people, a trend toward a truer democracy. In obedience to this demand the legislators of this state enacted a law enabling municipalities which have a population of 3500 people to practically make their own laws for the government of the city, restricted only by the limitations of the constitution.

A city having a freeholder's charter is not subject to the regulations and limitations of the general state law referring to municipalities. The charter may provide for the government of the city, by an individual (a mayor) or by a commission, and can amend it from time to time so as to keep up-to-date by the adoption of features which promise better results. There are a large number of cities in California at present having a charter government. In this section examples are found in the cities of Los Angeles and Pasadena. It is this which gives to the first named such governmental features as the initiative, the referendum and the recall. The city of Berkeley is pointed to as having one of the best charters that has been given any city. It was framed by the most able men in the city, among the members of the charter committee being several members of the university faculty. The first step to be taken is the creation of a committee of fifteen freeholders who frame the charter. Every member of this committee must have been a citizen of the municipality for a period of not less than five years and must be a taxpayer. After the charter is prepared it is submitted to the voters for ratification and must also be approved by the legislature. In order to facilitate the preparation of a charter, as it might be desirable to have one prepared to submit to the next legislature, the Glendale Improvement association appointed a committee a short time ago to collect data of various kinds bearing on the subject, to examine the charters of other cities and to receive suggestions from citizens in regard to provisions to be embodied in the instrument. This committee consists of Messrs. F. L. Muhlman, H. A. LaGross, Charles Murray, C. E. Stanley, C. A. Rudell, Emil Fram and J. C. Sherer. Any member of this committee will be glad to receive information or suggestion from any citizen that is pertinent to the matter. Mr. F. L. Muhlman is chairman, Mr. H. A. LaGross secretary of the committee.

A TRIUMPH OF PEACE.

For something like a hundred years the fisheries question has been a bone of contention between the United States and Great Britain and more than once has brought the two nations to the very verge of war. On the Atlantic coast the cause of the trouble was cod and mackerel, and on the Pacific, the fur-bearing seals. The trouble began immediately after the close of the revolutionary war. The treaty of peace made at Ghent after the war of 1812, was silent upon the subject, not because it was not considered but because the commissioners could not agree in regard to it. A treaty negotiated in 1818 attempted to settle the question but was sufficiently ambiguous to afford ample latitude for controversy from that time until the present year.

The Americans conceded the right of Great Britain to control the waters within three nautical miles of her shore line, but, almost incredible as it must seem to an outsider, it took all these years up to the present time to determine between the two nations whether the three mile limit should be measured by following the line of the coast with its numerous indentations, or whether it should be a line drawn from one headland to another; the Americans contending that it should follow the shore line. Many American vessels were seized and in 1852 Great Britain sent out a squadron to the fishing waters to enforce her claims.

In 1854 a reciprocity treaty was negotiated, which in return for the admission of certain English products free of duty, gained for the Americans a commission which adjusted the Alabama claims took the matter into consideration and the United States was allowed the privilege of fishing in the disputed waters upon payment of $5,000,000 to fish "without being restricted to any distance from shore." This treaty was abrogated by the United States in 1866 and Great Britain retaliated by passing stringent reg-

000,000. This arrangement terminated in 1873 and another temporary arrangement was patched up. A number of American vessels were seized in 1886 and in 1887 the president was by congress authorized to retaliate by prohibiting importation of British fish. This resulted in a commission being appointed to settle the matter, but the settlement was merely a temporary agreement known as the "modus vivendi."

All this trouble and much more occurred on the Atlantic coast, but ever since the United States acquired Alaska in 1867, the seal question has been equally serious on the Pacific. It is necessary to give this synopsis of the history of the matter to enable the average reader to understand the full importance of the decision rendered a few weeks ago by the Hague Tribunal. This decision according to Secretary Root, to whom the present administration much credit must be given for the result, gives to the United States all that we asked for and yet seems to be accepted by Great Britain as a satisfactory decision as far as her interests are concerned. It is a remarkable triumph for the Hague Tribunal and emphasizes the fact that the world is rapidly moving on to better and higher things, and that war between nations is rapidly becoming an impossibility.

To the Editor GLENDALE NEWS.

I see from the report of the meeting of the city trustees that at a late meeting a new city attorney was elected. I do not know the gentleman who was chosen and take it for granted that he is qualified for the position by education and ability. One of the few things I have heard about him, however, makes his appointment seem questionable. I hear that he is in the employ of one of the title companies in Los Angeles. We are hearing in these days considerable about the taking of time for private business on the part of public officials. I do not suppose that this gentleman will take the time for which he has been paid by the title company for the city's business. It would therefore appear that the city must needs take the off time for its portion. Is it necessary that the city should be content with the work of a man who is tagged with the day's work? Cannot it have the energy of a man in his working hours rather than what is left after a day's work has been done?

Another matter in this connection strikes me unfavorably. I have done enough business in committee to know that sometimes it is necessary to do some things by a mere majority. I have found, however, that in many cases it is better to have unanimity, and possibly to have it by a little forbearance and tact. It seems to me that in a case so important as the choosing of a legal adviser, every effort should have been made to choose a man who could command the approval of the whole board. I am quite sure that the dissenting members of the board in this case are reasoning and reasonable men.

Sincerely,
S. LAURENCE WARD.

The Dear Old Friends.
Those old, pleasant, innocent friends of the circus are not practiced now—the imposing five barbed gates that as the horse approached them were sloped into insignificant wattles and the rings through which the signorina-purported to leap, but which in reality were insinuated over her by compliant attendants. And then there was that venerable jockey performance, the culmination of which was a leap from the ring to a standing position, albeit at an angle of thirty degrees, on the horse's back. In the old circuses it was the custom of the horseman to miss the crowning jump two or three times in order that a dexter dame of interest might be kindled in the audience. After two failures the band would stop (always the prelude of a moment of strain supreme), the horse's head would be loosed, he would be urged to a greater pace, and the feat would gloriously succeed. Then what a crash of brass and outburst of delight in the building, involving even the staff and ringmaster in the expression of ecstasy! Those old, simple days!—Cornhill Magazine.

Remarkable Instinct.
"Every time I go shopping I thank heaven that I have a good business head," said the woman who boasts that her quick wit always saves her from financial loss. "A saleswoman came very near getting into trouble today over a belt I bought. The only thing that saved her was my business instinct. First I bought a belt for $1.25 and paid with a two dollar bill. In handling my change the girl dropped a quarter into the paper and boxes that strewn the floor back of the counter and could not find it. Of course I could have held her accountable, but she looked so tired and worried that I hadn't the heart to do that, so how do you think we settled it?" Her husband gave it up.

"Why," said she triumphantly, "I just exchanged my $1.25 belt for a dollar one, and neither of us lost anything."

"Remarkable instinct, my dear," said the husband, and she smiled over his approval.—New York Sun.

Bernard Shaw's Excuse.
Bernard Shaw was invited to a banquet in honor of the sculptor Rodin. He sent the following letter as his excuse for not attending:
"For me a banquet to Rodin is quite superfluous. I have already taken measures to assume immortality for myself by attaching my name to that of Rodin. Henceforth in every encyclopedia you will read, 'Bernard Shaw, subject of a bust by Rodin; otherwise unknown.'"

"If the bust is lost, broken or spoiled, so much the better for me," he continues. "They will speak of the 'lost Bernard Shaw of Rodin,' as today they speak of the lost Athens of Phidias. Nothing can be more beautiful than the statues which no one ever saw. Therefore I have done all that is necessary. I can get along without banquets. You will only be Rodin's hosts. I have the honor to be his model."—Dramatic Mirror.

The Unreality of Opera.
There are people who still complain of the unreality of opera, who cannot subject themselves to its illusion. And indeed the illusion of opera breaks down if everything in it is not kept at the same distance from reality. In that world of musical expression we must never be suddenly lowered by any incongruous detail into the ordinary world of prose. Realism, the attempt to work upon the emotions by complete illusion of reality, is disastrous in opera. If the scene is a railway station we remember at once that people do not sing when they are catching trains.—London Times.

The Music Was Fatal.
A New York politician once found it necessary to attend an entertainment at an orphan's home, and he was having a bad time of it. The selection by the boys' band was particularly disconcerting. Turning to a friend, the politician said with a shudder, "No wonder they are orphans."—Success Magazine.

A Money Saver.
"But you are taking considerable risk in letting your young men own two or three weeks' board."
"Yes, there is some risk," answered the boarding house keeper. "But then, you see, they worry over it so that they lose their appetites, so I save money in the long run."

Diplomatic.
"I believe our boy is a born diplomat."
"Has he shown extraordinary ability as a prevaricator?"
"Well, no, not that exactly, but he can cheat other boys in trades and make them think they are getting all the best of it."

Napoleon and Women.
Napoleon I., who was a great admirer of female talent when it was owned by him, like Mme. de Staël, direct it against himself, used to say, "There are women who have only one fault—viz, that they are not men."

Man and Woman.
When a man gets into trouble the first thing he thinks of is, "How shall I get out of this fix?" When a woman gets into trouble her first thought is, "How shall I best bear this misery?"—Winifred Black.

Ah, This Is Fine!

At rest or during the hurry of the day commune with the news by reading this paper.

Patted Her on the Back.
Tennyson on one occasion on board the royal yacht, at the request of the then Princess of Wales, read "The Grandmother." "I read it," said Tennyson, "in a cabin on deck. The princess sat close to me on one side and a young lady whom I didn't know on the other. The wind came through an open window, and the princess whispered, 'Put on your hat,' but I said I ought, if possible, to make myself bolder than ever before so many royalties. She said again, 'Oh, put it on!' so I did, and I heard afterward that the king of Denmark's court fool, who was in the background (they really kept a court fool), remarked, 'He may be laureate, but he has not learned court manners.' When I was done the ladies praised me, and I patted the unknown one on the back by way of reply, and presently I found out she was the empress of Russia!" "Had you any talk with the czar?" "Hardly any. He said he couldn't speak English. Perhaps he was disgusted at my patting his wife on the back. His head was up in the cabin ceiling as he walked about below."—London Gentlewoman.

Hydrocyanic Acid.
The distilled essential oil of almonds, which when diluted supplies the popular flavoring for sweets and confectionery known as "almond," contains in its strongest form a sufficient percentage of hydrocyanic acid to make it highly dangerous. A young man who was executing an order by pouring it from a large bottle to a smaller one noticed that he had not put the label quite straight on the smaller bottle and took it off again. Before replacing the label he licked it to make sure of its sticking properly. But while pouring he had inadvertently let a drop or two trickle on the outside of the bottle where he had affixed the label. Then when he touched the label with his tongue he felt as if something shot along that member and also a jump of his heart. So he rushed to a tap, which was fortunately close at hand, and put his tongue under the running water. Never as long as he lived, he said, would he forget that poisoning episode.—Chambers' Journal.

A Way Man Has.
A man who will sit up all night and display marvelous agility of the fingers in operating a pack of cards finds that he has hands like an elephant's feet when he is asked to hook up or button up his wife's gown. This fact is observed time and again and is one of the popular bits of philosophy to be served in connection with a dressmaker's convention desiring public attention. That it is a more difficult undertaking to shuffle the deck and deal a poker hand—merely as a test of digital cleverness without taking into consideration the more important item of dealing a satisfactory hand—than to hook up a gown even when the eyes are hidden in the lace must be admitted. That a man will undertake the one cheerfully and the other churlishly must be ascribed to the survival of the Old Nick in most male humans.—Chicago Tribune.

A Nice Distinction.
He was hurrying for the train, somewhat impeded by a clumsy crate containing a large live turkey. As he approached the gate the guard stopped him with a gesture.
"You can't take that through here," he said. "That'll have to be checked or go by express."
"But I can't stop," declared the passenger. "I've got to get this train." And he tried to push through again.
The guard held him back. "That is baggage," he said firmly, "and it must go in the baggage car."
"Oh, no," replied the other, with a charming and confident smile; "it's luggage. Don't you see I'm lugging it?" And he had slipped by before the astonished guard had caught his breath.—Youth's Companion.

Circumstantial Evidence.
Given the clearest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be at fault, after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution. Take the case of any pencil sharpened by any woman. If you have witnesses you will find she did it with a knife, but if you take simply the aspect of the pencil you will say she did it with her teeth.—Mark Twain.

Ultra Practical.
"I notice," said a husband who was reading a lengthy letter which his wife had written and had handed to him for perusal, "that you have made a stupid mistake. You have written 'marriage' instead of 'marriage'."
"Either will do," replied the lady. "They both signify an illusion."

Sure Thing.
"So Jack and Tom proposed last night. Which did you accept?"
"Why, my dear, I was so excited I can't remember. But whichever came tonight must be the one."—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Painfully Frank.
Miss Oldgirl—Here are some new pictures I had taken, but they are perfectly frightful. The photographer I went to is no flatterer. Miss Pert—No, but he is conscientious.—Baltimore American.

Taking Her to Task.
Miss Plymouth Rock—Yes, we are very proud of the fact that our ancestors came over in the Mayflower. Miss Many Rocks (severely)—In the last cabin?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Owning Your Home.

"I have always felt that upon properly appointed and becoming dwellings depends more than anything else the improvement of mankind," said Benjamin Disraeli (Earl of Beaconsfield). To sit in the evening in your comfortable armchair; to look around you and know that everything you see there is your very own and that you have obtained it all so that you practically do not feel the cost; to know also that if you, the breadwinner, were suddenly called away your home would still be your wife's or your family's—that is one of the pleasures of life, indeed. It is a pleasure which gives you new heart in your work in the world. It sends you out every morning determined to get on and to earn more money, and because of that very determination you do become worth more money.—New York Press.

A Handy Snuffbox.

"A curious story is told as to how the Rothschilds supported Carafa, the composer. The latter was far from rich. His principal income was derived from a snuffbox. And this was the way of it: The snuffbox was given to the author of 'La Prison d'Edimbourg' by Baron James de Rothschild as a token of esteem. Carafa sold it twenty-four hours later for 75 napoleons to the same jeweler from whom it had been bought. This became known to Rothschild, who gave it again to the musician on the following year. The next day it returned to the jeweler's. The traffic continued till the death of the banker and longer still, for his sons kept up the tradition, to the great satisfaction of Carafa.

Little Elsie.

A London attorney named Elsie, rather diminutive in his stature and not particularly respectable in his character, once met Jekyll. "Sir," said he, "I hear you have called me a pettifogger scoundrel. Have you done so, sir?"

"Sir," said Jekyll, with a look of contempt, "I never said you were a pettifogger or a scoundrel, but I said you were 'little Elsie.'"—Westminster Gazette.

They Felt Hungry.

She—Well, Clarence, dear, the situation is not quite as rosy as it is pictured to us before marriage, is it? He—Well, not all together so, love. She—I wish—er—I wish—He—What do you wish, dearest? She—I wish we had the rice and the shoes they threw at us when we were married.

He Lumped It.

"My coffee is not quite sweet enough," remarked he. "Well, if you don't like it, I suppose you'll have to lump it," said she, with a smile, passing the loaf sugar his way.

BASEBALL NOTES.

On Sunday afternoon the baseball devotees witnessed one of the best games of the season at Verdugo Park, when the Verdugo team met the Lawndale team and defeated them 1 to 0.

The Lawndale team played an unfair stunt by putting Reiger of the St. Louis Nationals, and Le Brant of the Seattle in their lineup, but in spite of this handicap, Verdugo came out victorious.

The nine innings were played without a score, but in the tenth inning Verdugo scored the winning point.

Barkdall, first man upon the tenth, singled to left; Bourne, next man up singled to center, and Hilliard, third man up singled to center, scoring Barkdall from second, thereby gaining the one and only point made.

Gervais as usual pitched a splendid game, striking out fifteen men.

Saturday's game with the U. S. C. freshmen was postponed because of the rain until this coming Saturday.

On Sunday the Verdugo team will meet the South Central Merchants.

The "Opening Day" of Mr. G. E. Williams' new dry goods store on Monday last, was a great success. The store was unusually attractive by appropriate decorations, and the ladies of the town turned out in full force to do honor to the occasion.

Although the establishment is not yet fully stocked, it presents an appearance which gives promise of satisfactorily supplying the demands of its patrons.

TROPICO

Mr. Owens of 1008 Glendale avenue, is remodeling his home, which he purchased some time ago.

Miss Jennie Angel, who has been spending some time with her parents at Downey, returned Tuesday to this place.

Mrs. Bahrenburg of Park avenue is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Mary Bahrenburg of Long Beach for several weeks.

Mrs. Hedges has accepted a position as forelady of the pattern department in the Bullock dry goods establishment in Los Angeles.

Charles Henry will soon begin the erection of a new residence on the lot purchased by him recently in the Ayers tract on Parke avenue.

Mrs. George Gordon, well known here as sister to Mrs. Oberdick, has returned from Sacramento and has taken up her residence on Twenty-first street, Los Angeles.

Mack McCullough has purchased two lots on Boynton street in the Boynton tract adjoining other property owned by him. This owner now has three-fourths of an acre on this street.

Residents along Central avenue owning pepper trees pursued the wise course of having the trees sprayed this week. The work was done by a large power sprayer owned by a company who passed through this place going north.

The reception and exhibit of basketry and copper work which was to have been given by Miss Helen Cole at the Bungalow Studio last week was postponed on account of rain. The event will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magruder of San Francisco, who were married recently, will arrive soon to pass some time with Mrs. Magruder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nell of Glendale avenue. Mrs. Magruder will be remembered as Miss Grace Nell.

Mrs. Lucile Barber of Los Angeles will move to Tropic next week to oversee the erection of a fine home in the Ayers tract on property recently purchased by her. When completed the home will be occupied by Mrs. Barber and family, and while building Mrs. Barber will rent a home here.

The good road improvement work is completed as far north as Tropic avenue. Stone has been laid on the section between Tropic avenue and Park, and along this stretch the large steam roller is busily working. Grading work is being done north of Park avenue and stone is being hauled to that section preparatory to being laid.

Winebrenner & Johnson report this week the sale of 40 acres in Burbank to Norman Bahrenburg, who moved recently to this place, the price reported as being $16,000 cash for the entire piece. The place is planted to alfalfa and has a fairly good house on the place. Mr. Bahrenburg bought the property with the intention of ranching. This is the largest sale of this kind made in this vicinity for some time.

Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., Mrs. Olliver Merrill, Miss Treva Merrill of St. Johns, Mich.; Mrs. H. Clay Seaman, Jr., and Mrs. John H. Seaman of this place attended a luncheon given by Mrs. A. H. Sellers of Pasadena, Friday, complimentary to Miss Lillian Hancock of Hinsdale, who left for her eastern home Tuesday afternoon. Miss Hancock has been visiting in Southern California for the past six months.

John A. Logan has sold his property consisting of a house, barn and lot on Central avenue to J. M. Brite of Cucamonga, who will take possession just as soon as Mr. Logan and family vacate. The sale was made through Dayenport & Black and the price is reported as being $2100. Mr. Logan has already started the construction of a home on Cypress avenue just west of Central avenue in the Scheu tract, which he expects to occupy when completed. The large hedge along Cypress avenue in front of the Scheu property is being torn down and it is expected that the hedge running along Central avenue before this land will also be torn out immediately.

The large pepper trees which for years stood along the east side of the San Fernando road between Central avenue and Park, were dug out this week. The removing of these trees makes this property appear unusually bare. It is believed that they are being removed to make room for more business blocks. The erection of business blocks seems to be contagious, and the people of Tropic are catching the fever. The block being erected by Logan & Stevenson is going up very rapidly. Both stories are now up, the front being of white enameled brick. Work is now being centered on the interior of the building. It is expected that within several weeks this building will be ready for occupancy.

TROPICO PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

At Tropic Presbyterian church Sunday morning the pastor will speak on "The Voice from the Mountain," and in the evening the subject will be "Self Reliant."

Thursday Afternoon Club

The third annual reception of the Thursday Afternoon Club was held at the home of Mrs. Clyde R. Carmack, Friday, October 14. Those in the receiving line were the officers of the club and the members of the social committee. The untimely rain was quickly forgotten in the beautifully decorated, brilliantly lighted rooms, and there was a constant flow of guests throughout the afternoon. Mrs. Tom Thornton, of Glendale, rendered two very charming contralto solos and Miss Suzanne Dean pleased the audience immensely with her clever reading. The music furnished by a portion of the Mandolin Club served as a pleasing undercurrent to the conversation and added much to the enjoyment of the dainty refreshments which were served in the dining room throughout the reception hours.

TROPICO METHODIST GLEANINGS.

The pastor reports that the services next Sunday will be as usual and a good attendance is desired.

Next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the church will meet in the church parlors. At this time the election of officers for the ensuing year will take place.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society met at the home of Mrs. Sheldon on Glendale avenue Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Withey, a missionary who returned recently from India, was present and gave an address. Mrs. James H. Hutt was elected president of the society for the coming year.

A reception was tendered to Rev. W. C. Botkin and wife in the church auditorium Tuesday evening. Addresses of welcome were given by the following: Robert Taylor in behalf of the church and the Sunday school, Joseph Murphy in behalf of the choir, and Rev. J. H. Henry gave a general address of welcome. A program of phonograph selections and a number of pieces on the harp by Miss Stella Nell was given. Refreshment consisting of fruitade and wafers were served, after a "get acquainted" hour.

Miss Clara Ringert, sister of Mrs. Clotworthy, and Mrs. H. H. Benner of Los Angeles were also present.

Finson-Beeler Nuptials

A very charming though quiet wedding took place in the very beautiful little home that has just been erected by the groom on the southeast corner of Hawthorne street and Columbus avenue last Monday evening. The bride was previously known by the name of Miss Daisy Beeler and she arrived from Chicago a few minutes before the ceremony, which made her Mrs. Harry Finson.

Mr. Finson is a young business man of Los Angeles, employed with the Johns-Manville Co. He had built a house in Glendale as a surprise to his bride. His mother had come from her home on Eagle Rock avenue and made the place delightfully homelike for the wedding. The decorations were in excellent taste and the table was daintily spread for the first meal.

The marriage service was in the hands of Dr. Ward of the Presbyterian church.

HOME BURNED.

On Saturday afternoon between three and four o'clock, the home of Mr. G. L. Murdock situated on West Second street near Remington avenue, was burned to the ground, together with all the contents. About $100 worth of finish lumber which Mr. Murdock has recently bought and had piled in the yard, was also burned. There was no insurance. The origin of the fire is still a mystery, as there was no fire in the house at the time. Mrs. Murdock's mother and little 2-year old son were alone in the house and were in the front part of the residence, consequently were able to flee from the burning building in safety, but in attempting to return and save some articles, the grandmother was slightly burned about the neck, before she could get out of the house. Through the kindness of friends the family were given shelter until a house could be secured for their temporary use. The people of Glendale, both rich and poor, showed their generosity in every way, as a most liberal amount of clothing, bedding, furniture, etc., were very soon donated. The amount of ready money, checks, etc., that was so freely given, cannot be estimated at the present time, but a goodly sum has already been raised with thanks to follow. All of which is heartily appreciated by the family, who are temporarily located in the Bennington home, 1446 Ivy street.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

A splendid new Hardman piano, three-quarter grand, has been placed in the high school auditorium. Mr. Moyle and Mrs. Gibson, head of the music department, cordially invite all who are interested to attend the morning assembly to inspect and hear the new instrument. The upright piano which has formerly occupied the place of honor in the auditorium, has now been removed to the gymnasium.

Miss Payne of St. Albans, Vt., has entered the ninth year.

Miss McOmber of El Paso, Ill., has entered the tenth year.

Miss Gee of North Glendale has entered as a special student.

The boys of the botanical department have begun their preparations for the lath house, a large part of which they will erect themselves.

The same department has started an aquarium which promises well for the future.

The Juniors held a party Friday evening in honor of Milton Newton, a former member of the eleventh year class, at the home of their class teacher, Mr. Howe.

The evening was passed in playing games, candy pulling and various forms of amusement.

Drain pipes are being laid to conduct the storm water from the roof away from the building.

On Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Emily Elias the senior girls entertained the senior boys.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Capt. J. A. Neal and his family returned Monday evening to Glendale after an absence of two months during which time they visited Seattle, Vancouver Island, Winnipeg and Philadelphia.

Their return was unhappily celebrated by an accident of which Archie Neal, the 3-year-old son of Captain and Mrs. Neal, was the victim. Master Archie was playing with a jack o'lantern when the fringe of his Indian suit caught fire and before the flames were extinguished he was quite badly burned.

Dr. Bryant is the attending physician and the small patient is now doing very well.
